President visited the pits yesterday and held a meeting. Mee'rs. Maclariand, Freeland, Haxaii and Cox were present. The subject of the explosion was fully investigated.

Mr. James H. Cox submitted the following report:—

I was formerly the superintendent and general agent of the Clover Hill Railroad Company, and President of the Clover Hill Railroad Company, and President of the Clover Hill Coal Mining Company, and had for many years charge of all the mines at Clover Hill. Last January I resigned my position, and Samuel R. Owens, who had been my chief mining engineer for about twenty years, was appointed in my plane. During the time of my service there had been several small exclusions at some of the mines, at all of which years, was appointed in my plane. During the time of my service there had been several small exclusions at some of the mines, at all of which years, was a promised the respective of the my house, distant about three-quarters of a mile of the pit state. The distant about three-quarters of a mile of my last, the 3d inst., at haif past two P. Mr. I was my last, the 3d inst., at haif past two P. Mr. I was my last, the 3d inst., at haif past two P. Mr. I was my last, the 3d inst., at haif past two P. Mr. I was my last, the 3d inst., at haif past two P. Mr. I was my last, the 3d inst., at haif past two P. Mr. I was a large of the pit when he pit the pit of the pit, when ene of my servand ran in and said that he apprehended that an exposion had taken place at the pit, as he had heard a loud report and saw smoke a rising from the pit. I immediately the pit my last, the pit when I resected it I found the managers, with such of the laborers as were out of the pit, preparing to make a descent. Some delay was experienced in completing the arrangements to make the descent, so that the men did not reach the bottom of the pit nutia bout five o'clock. On their return they reported that there was a fire in a small closet or lumber house about forty feet from the shaft bottom. They saw no man, living or dead, explosion is to be apprehended, they must be made to leave the pit.

Some time ago the miners had occasion to move an air door at No. 8 upset. (An upset is a portion of the pit which is worked on higher ground than the main level, and an air door is so constructed that by the closing or opening a draught can be thrown into or checked out of any cost chamber that may be desired.] The fact of the door having been removed had been reported to Mr. Marshall, Sr., and he had ordered both deputies to have the door replaced, but both neglected to have it done. It is supposed the gas accumulated at the upset until the whole place had become choked, and in all probability had backed down to the main level, and that one of the mule drivers had set fire to it with a lamp he was carrying. This explosion could have been prevented had either of the deputies attended to their duties, even on the morning of the disaster; but it appears they did not even visit the place, and, of course, did not know its condition.

On the morning of the explosion young Marshall went and even visit the piaco, and, of course, did not know its condition.

On the merning of the explosion young Marshall went down first, and he stated he did not visit there. At 10 e'clock he was relieved by John Weale. Just previous $6 the explosion, one of the workmen who came out of the pit saked Weale, as was the custom, "How's everything?" Weale, who was on his way to the shaft to get has dinner, after having pretended to go around, replied, "Everything's all right."

three children.

In 1866 when the Bright Rope islanged to the Clover Hill Railroad Company, an explosion took piece and nine men were killed. Cox's pit exploded in 1850, and seven men were killed. To 3653 the Raccoon pit near by exploded and killed saventies men. A number of other explessions have occurred, but did not result in the killing of any one. Including the recent disaster, there have been eighty-two persons killed at the Clover Hill with since 1860.

have been eighty-two persons killed as the Clover Hill pits since 1880.

Work will be commenced on the pit and the bodies removed as soon as it is decreased asia for it to be done.

This is the most serious mising disaster that has ever accurred in the United States, and but few any wherehave had more victims. Let us hope that this may be the last it shall be our painful duty to record.

ALONG THE HUDSON.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE HERALD.

Removal of Conductors on the Hudson River and Harlom Railroads—Prize Fight in Orange County—Greene County Election—Belegates to Syracuse—Bargiaries. &c.

Pougurant, April 6, 1867.

The Hudson River and Harlom Railroad companies have during the past week made a wholesale removal of conductors of through passenger trains on their respective lines. I am unable to state positively the cause. One rumor is (and it is believed to be correct) that the men who have been suspended are suspected of having dealt largely in what is known as Hudson river coupon tickets, managing the sale of such in a manner which lined the conductors' pockets. Whatever may be the cause the matter has created commercially excitement among the employes on both roads, and is at present the main topic of conversation.

Information received here tells of a prize fight which happened near Middletown, Orange county, this week, between an Irieh man named Joseph Cunningham and a macon named John Siy. The two got into an altercation and put up five doltars each. Persons standing near greatly increased the sum, and the fight soon after took place. After fighting in a brutal and very unscionitic manner for about a half an hour, Cunningham was decided to be the winner. Both of the belligerents were soon after arrested and fined twenty-five doltars each. Their seconds, named McClaskey and Flynn, were also heavily fined, as were also Cornellus Collins and James Holtherday for being alders and about the same Holtherday for being alders and about the same blotherday for being alders and about the same holtherday for being alders and about the same holtherday for being alders and about the same halfest of the poponied Alari Aulbay, John M. Keese and Herrick Shaene as delegates to the Syracuse Convention.

Returns from all the towns in Greene county show that the next Board of Supervisors there will stand aix democrats to four republicans, which is about the same as last.

The Upper Hudson has been infested with burglars this week. One night the villains attac Romers Will. Our.—In January, 1858, the treasury of Coshocton county, Ohio, was robbed of some $22,000, and it was given out that it was done by a gang of thieves. It seems that the sheriff, hearing unusuanoise in that office, rushed in and found the Treasurer lying on the floor gagged, his keys taken from him and that amount of money missing. Several suits have since been commenced, which have led to the arrest of the Treasurer, Samuel Ketchum, and Sheriff David Rodebarer, on the charge of being the real authors of the robbery.
